Hockey Season Ends With Stubborn Game

Score of 1-1 Between Canadians and Strathmore Gave Latter
 Victory by Total of 6-5

The hockey season concluded with a flourish, the "fans" having plenty of thrills last Saturday night when Strathmore played the return game in the Morgan Cup series. Coming with a one goal lead, the score at Strathmore against the Canadians being 5-4, the expectation was that Canadians would win on home ice. Three minutes from the face off Coleman scored on a goal by Jenkins from Lily's rebound.

In the second Strathmore scored, McGregor on a pass from E. Crellan, whilst in the third the visitors took no chances of allowing Coleman to again score, and play was practically within Strathmore's blue line, they forming a barricade around their goal which, try as Coleman might, they could not get the puck through.

The goalkeeper made some remarkable saves, and luck was certainly on his side, for though Coleman rained shots on the goal, they did not score.

Lily's and Strathmore player mixed things for a few moments, but no serious results followed. Penalties were heavy in the second period, four of each side being sent to the box, and in the third period the players were keyed up and it was a stubborn fight, keeping the crowd in a state of keen excitement. Strathmore has a good team, and in size and weight they are far above the average, one player, Giroux, weighing 220 pounds, whilst others were around the 200 mark.

On the way to Coleman they stopped off at Nanton and defeated them 6-0. They enjoyed their visit to the Pass, and on Sunday made a trip to Waterton.

The line up—Strathmore: Cleeve; E. Giroux, E. Crellin; C. Giroux, E. Collison, Christenson, McGregor, Jack Crellin, Moran.

Canadians: Kanik; Vejreva, Joyce; Lily's, Fraser, Jenkins, Gale, Oliva, Richards.

Walter Scott, Blairmore, referee.

The season's hockey games have been productive of many thrills. The rivalry between the Canadians and Blairmore has not abated, and games between these teams drew the biggest crowds of the season. The newly organized team, the Miners, also occupied a place in the spotlight by entering the junior play-offs with the Calgary Jimmies in a sudden-death game, losing out by a score of 1-0 on very sloppy ice.

On March 8 the Bearcats played the return game of the Cruickshank cup series, when the Canadians defeated them by a score of 5-1, winning the series by 9-6.

The following morning they left by Greyhound bus for Strathmore to play in the Morgan Cup series.

The Canadians have showed a steady improvement since re organization in 1928. They have kept the name of Coleman to the fore, and have given the people some good entertainment. Joyce has been a spectacular player, excelling in speed over other Pass players, and his dashes towards his opponents goal always caused the boys to cheer wildly. Hockey sticks and players' feet were like hurdles to Jimmy; he jumped gracefully over them and continued his rush.

Mrs J. Anderson's name was omitted from the ladies committee of the Caledonian Society in the report of the annual meeting.

Crows Nest Pass School Trustees Association

What may be called the first annual convention of this Association was held in Blairmore on Wednesday, March 9th. The evening session took the form of a joint meeting of teachers, trustees and others of the general public who were interested.

After a short discussion it was decided to hold the annual 'track meet' in the fall. The Rev J. Smith briefly addressed the meeting on the subject of school libraries, reminding them of the attempts made by the Library Association to have the Government to renew the school library grants previously in force, and asking support from the convention in the form of a resolution to be sent through the proper channels to the Minister of Education.

Inspector Bremner addressed the convention briefly. His was a more or less informal talk or series of suggestions and questions centering around the thought: "Of what value, if any, from the point of view of training for citizenship, are the various subjects on the curriculum?" Proceeding from the statement that the 'disciplinary' theory in education had been exploded or abandoned or discredited the speaker seemed to suggest that the energy now being expended in the classroom is probably from a training point of view largely wasted. The speaker was very careful to point out that his questions and conclusions were to be taken as 'rhetorical.'

Dr. Lovering of the Lethbridge School Board addressed the convention on the subject of retarded children. It was obvious from the remarks of the teachers and trustees at the close of the address that no real statistical report could be brought in on this matter until there was agreement on the definition of the word 'retarded.' The matter is to be considered further after a check-up on the classes according to standards to be laid down by the inspector.

From Coleman there were present J. M. Allan, who was appointed second vice-president of the association; Frank Barringham, W. Antrobus, H. Snowden, ex trustee, and Principal Hoyle. W. H. Chappell of Blairmore was re-elected president of the association, on an open vote, with R. Oakes as the other candidate.

Boy Scouts Concert Held at Blairmore

Crows Nest Pass District of the Boy Scouts Association held a concert in the opera house, Blairmore, on Friday, which was addressed by Provincial Commissioner Bachman of Edmonton and J. W. Gresham, district commissioner of Blairmore. Rev. Father Donovan of Bellevue addressed the gathering on "Citizenship."

Included in the program were songs by Howell Powell, Mrs. S. G. Bannan, Mrs. L. L. Morgan, Miss L. Blackwell, Mrs. J. Kerr; violin solos by Frank Johnson, T. Hill, Mrs. A. Jones; pianoforte solos by pupils of Miss Madeleine Chardon, including Jean Cruickshank and Miss Lyall; and orchestral selections by Hillcrest orchestra, under the conductorship of Mr. W. H. Moser.

Last week a course in training for Scoutmasters was held by Commissioner Bachman, for the troops of Crows Nest Pass towns. A strong district council has been organized and preparations are being made for the annual summer camp.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Hummel are spending two weeks at Vancouver.

The Imperial Economic Conference

The outstanding event listed on the Canadian national calendar for 1932 is the Imperial Economic Conference which will open at Ottawa on July 18. The deliberations of this conference, the decisions it may reach or fail to reach, even the spirit manifested within the conference, will have far-reaching effects not only upon Canada and the British nations of the world, but upon all nations.

Because this is true, the people of Canada will follow the proceedings of the conference with an interest surpassing in its intensity that usually displayed by them in the sessions of their own parliament. It is, in a sense, a parliament of the Empire that will be in session, and while its conclusions will have to be confirmed and ratified by each individual parliament of the Great Britain and the Dominions, it is safe to say that once the conference itself has reached unanimity, its decisions will be accepted by all.

On the other hand, should the conference fail in its avowed object, should it prove as abortive of results as the London conference of 1930, the outcome may possibly be very disastrous; in fact, in such an event, it would have been better if there had been no conference. British people everywhere entertained high hopes of the conference of 1930 in advance of its sittings, and their disappointment over its almost complete failure was correspondingly great, their only consolation being the decision reached to meet again and make another try for success.

All political parties in Canada are sincerely desirous that the Ottawa conference should succeed where the London conference failed. We believe the same can be said of all political parties in Great Britain and the other Dominions. If this united will to succeed is persisted in, it becomes intensified as the opening date of the conference approaches, if the determination of the masses of the people that the conference should succeed is manifested everywhere, then success will be achieved.

That such a feeling and desire now animates the people of Western Canada is indicated by the proposal made in the Saskatchewan Legislature that all parties in that Assembly should unite in framing and unanimously adopting a resolution setting forth the views of their people as to the policies which Canada should follow in the coming years. The suggestion goes even further, namely, that all the other Western Provincial Legislatures should follow the same course. In a word, the suggestion is that so far as the Western Provinces of Canada are concerned they should, in advance of the conference, reach common ground in regard to matters of policy in the sphere of Empire trade, as the interests of the West may be affected thereby, and acquaint the Ottawa conference with their conclusions.

Great Britain is to be represented in the conference by a new National Government representative of Conservatives, Liberals, and a section of Labor; Australia will be represented by a new Government representative of a combination of political groups. It is well, therefore, that the national viewpoint of Canada, as represented by political groups, should thus be ascertained and presented to the Canadian Government.

Admittedly the difficulties to be overcome in the problems to be solved, are many and great. The national interests of each component part of the Empire have to be recognized, while the combined interests of all are being worked out. There must, therefore, be a willingness to give and take, to compromise, to reach common grounds of understanding, rather than to adopt inflexible attitudes. Fortunately for the ultimate success of the conference this fact appears to be more generally recognized and accepted than heretofore.

It is fortunate, too, that in manufacturing circles in Eastern Canada there is everywhere an evidence a willingness to go some way at least in the direction of more encouragement for the sale of British-made goods in Canada in return for preferences in the Old Country markets for those products whose constitution the great bulk of Canada's export trade. Taken all in all the omens appear to be favorable to a successful outcome of the conference's deliberations.

It is also well that the move for unanimity in the matter of Canadian policy in the conference should originate in these Western Provinces. No part of Canada stands to gain more, or to lose more, than does the Hudson Bay route depends upon the development of a large import trade from Britain through the port of Churchill. An absence of such import trade means that the export of grain and other Western products will be strictly limited because a one-way rail and steamship traffic can never succeed. It is economically impossible, too expensive, because without two-way traffic vessels put on the route, rates on both railway and such ships as do operate will, of necessity, be too high to insure success.

This is but one aspect of the subject, and, perhaps, in relation to the whole subject of Empire trade, but very vital nevertheless to Western Canada. It is because of just such aspects, however, that a unity of Canadian opinion is so essential before the conference begins its work. It is to be hoped that such unity will be established and find expression around the conference table.

How Railway Fights Weeds

English Company Finds Spraying Poison From Trucks Effective

Weeds are the railwayman's enemy as well as the gardener's. If left alone they would choke the permanent way as effectively as in like circumstances, they would do our flower-beds and gravel paths. The British Southern Railway has made an effective weed-killing train by coupling two old tenders together and fitting them with spray pipes and tanks. A special form of liquid weed-killer is used, and the spray pipes have an effective range of about ten feet.

Facts About the Moon

One Side Very Hot and the Other Intensely Cold

Professor Stewart, of Princeton University, predicts that within the next hundred years our great-grandchildren will travel to the moon in a rocket-propelled ship which will cost $400,000,000 to build. There are one or two little things found necessary to humans which are not found on the moon. For instance, there is no air, no water, no food. Also the climate of the moon is somewhat unsuitable. On the side turned towards the sun the temperature rises to 244 degrees Fahrenheit, which is a good deal hotter than boiling water. On the other side it falls to 244 degrees below zero—276 degrees of frost. Actually no human being could live for an instant in such heat or such cold.

Keep Trade in Canada

Carrying of Canadian wheat by Canadian freight facilities and through Canadian ports rather than through United States channels, would solve to a large extent the transportation problems of the Dominion, and would provide millions of dollars for Canadian labor, said Col. E. C. Phinney, president of the Halifax harbor commission, addressing the Toronto Transportation Club.

Saskatchewan Leads In Mental Hygiene

National Committee Expresses Hope That All Large Hospitals Will Follow Lead Given By Hon. Dr. McCreary

The report of the activities of the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene for the period 1930-31, just issued, makes special complimentary reference to the work being done by Saskatchewan's Minister of Public Health, the Hon. F. D. Munroe, in connection with the establishment of a division of Mental Health in Saskatchewan.

"The progressive Minister of Health," says the report, "is taking a statesmanlike interest in mental hygiene and has created a division of mental health. It will fall to this division to work out policies and programmes in regard to mental institutions, clinics and the application of mental hygiene principles in education, social work, administration of criminal justice, etc. The Minister of Health has also made possible the organization of psychiatric wards in connection with the Regina General Hospital." It is to be hoped that all large general hospitals throughout the country will follow the lead furnished by Regina.

During the period 1930-31 the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene has been active in all parts of Canada in the promotion of mental hygiene progress. The outstanding pieces of work include a survey of the Province of Prince Edward Island; organization of a post-graduate center in psychiatry in Toronto; integration of mental hygiene into the school system of Montreal; activities leading to the enlargement of the mental hospital at Brandon, Manitoba; arrangement in collaboration with the Federal Census Bureau to secure uniform statistics from mental institutions of the country; publication of weekly articles in two hundred newspapers; demonstration of the value of social work in the parole of mental patients in British Columbia; establishment of a Division of Mental Health in connection with the Department of Public Health of the Province of Saskatchewan; organization of psychiatric wards in connection with the Regina General Hospital; educational publicity; organization of important research activities at four leading Canadian universities and the knitting of mental hygiene activities through co-operative efforts between the National Committees of Canada and the United States.

SAVED IMPORTED DRESS

"After a little wearing, a lovely green voile—an imported dress—lost its color so completely that it was not wearable. A friend who had admired it asked me why I wasn't wearing it any more. On hearing the reason she advised dyeing it and recommended Diamond Dyes. To make a long story short, it turned out beautifully. I have a lovely new dress that really cost just like the price of one package of Diamond Dyes."

Who have since used Diamond Dyes for both tinting and dyeing. They do either equally well. I am not an expert dyer but I never have a failure with Diamond Dyes. They seem to be made so they always go on smoothly and evenly. They never spot, streak or rug; and friends, never know the things I dye with Diamond Dyes are really at all!"

Mrs. R.F., Quebec.

Nerves Kept Her Awake

Mrs. Schoer Says She Sleeps Like Log Since Taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I can truthfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for all those suffering from a rundown state of nerves," says Mrs. Schoer, of Prince Albert, Sask. "My nerves were in such a rundown condition that I could not sleep at night. Many nights I did not lie in bed at all, and would get up and walk the floor. A friend told me my mother was in the same condition and had found relief by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have taken four bottles and can now sleep like a log, and I feel so refreshed in the morning. I do my own housework and am a dreamer before."

The reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are so effective in such cases is that they create new red blood, which supplies to the nerves the very elements they need. Equally effective for all rundown or anemic conditions. Try them. At your druggist's. 50c a package. 25

New Freight Ruling

Family Car May Now Be Shipped With Household Effects

Like the kitchen table, the chest-of-drawers and little Jimmy's playthings, the family car in future will be considered by Canadian National Railways freight officials as just another "household effect" for rating purposes, as a result of a new ruling that has just become effective.

Under the new schedule when household goods are moved in carload lots from points in western Canada to the east, or between points in eastern or western Canada, the family automobile, whether it be a tin lizzie or an expensive limousine, may be included in the shipment to move at the same rate as that charged for household goods. This new ruling is considerably lower than that previously charged for this type of traffic.

The same ruling will shortly be made to apply to the shipment of the family automobile with household effects from eastern centres to the west.

Fifty Million Gas Masks

France Will Ensure Every Citizen Against Gas Attacks

Fifty million gas masks have been ordered by the French Government for civilian use. They will be issued during the next two years, will be fitted against the deadliest gases developed since the World War. They will insure immunity for ten hours after which the chemical canisters can be changed.

The masks were ordered by the Ministry of the Interior for the protection of the civil population in case of a gas attack. It is intended by the French Government to have enough gas masks on hand to guarantee every citizen protection.

To Protect Forests

New Machine For Constructing Fire Lines Is Invented

A new machine has been invented to aid in fighting forest fires. It is nothing more than a powerful tractor with a wide plough fixed in front. The plough is used for constructing fire lines to prevent the spread of forest fires. It can make a furrow fifteen inches wide and will throw out the dirt sixteen inches on either side, making a fire line almost four feet wide. It will accomplish in one hour, work that would keep ten men busy for a whole day.

Time Has Tested It.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil has been on the market upwards of fifty years and in that time it has proved a blessing to thousands. It is in high favour throughout Canada and its excellence has carried its fame beyond the seas. If it were doubled the price it would be a cheap liniment.

Cost Of Stamp Commission

The cost of the Stamp Commission which investigated trading in grain futures is the subject of questions placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by A. L. Beaulieu (Lib. Provencher). Mr. Beaulieu asks the total cost of the commission, amounts paid the three members of the board for both fees and expenses, and amounts expended in fees for lawyers engaged by the Government.

Government and Municipal Co-Operation

Necessity Of Economy In Order To Safeguard Solvency Of Municipalities

Hon. Howard McCreary, Provincial Minister of Municipal Affairs for Saskatchewan, has addressed a letter over his personal signature to the various municipalities pointing out the necessity of close co-operation between Saskatchewan Government and the municipalities. He points out the paramount importance of safe guarding the solvency of the municipalities, by pursuing a course of the most rigid economy. He pays a tribute to the public spirit of certain municipalities, pointing out that there have been instances where tax collections in districts where crops have not been good, have exceeded tax collections in districts where crops have been reasonably good. In some districts which have been dried out, the financial statements submitted have given the greatest encouragement. Regret is expressed that in some municipalities more favored in the way of better crops financial conditions are not what they should be.

The Minister expresses the desirability of the employment of capable secretaries and paying them reasonable returns for the important services rendered. He urges the utmost economy in preparing the budget for the coming year, and suggests that only the most necessary expenditures be undertaken. He asks for a copy of the forthcoming budget with an indication of the proposed savings, and offers the earnest co-operation of the Government, the Minister, and the Department.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Suffers From Indigestion CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused in many cases by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

During hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis or stomach ulcers. Don't dose the acid with pepper or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines. Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little Bismarck's Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your system will digest naturally. There is nothing better for acid stomach than Bismarck's Magnesia and it settles an acid stomach. Your stomach acts as a feed box in just a few minutes. Bismarck's Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, pleasant and pleasant. It is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

Japan Courting Disaster

By Breaking Pledge To Respect Chinese Territory and Independence

What is now clear is the fact that Japan's diplomatic and military objectives are one and the same. The empire is acting as a unit, in spite of the protestations of its diplomatic representatives. Japan entered upon an adventure last September whose sequel no one can foresee, but with each act of aggression the resistance to Japan increases and consolidates. The Empire may have a secret ally, or perhaps two, but it courts disaster, nevertheless, by antagonizing nations to which it has given its pledge to respect the territory and independence of China.

There are also pictures of the prince's farms in Cornwall, where he is known as the Duke. The film will be publicly shown in the West End.

It will take many times the present traffic to justify another rail outlet, the railway committee report into the Peace River outlet reveals. The report was tabled. ## Japanese Capture Focal Point Of Battle Front Without A Struggle Shanghai, China.—Kiangwan, the focal point of the Chapei-Woosung battle front, has at last fallen to the Japanese, apparently without a struggle.

But all the Japanese occupied was a shambles of debris and dead bodies. The Chinese claimed the stench had driven them out, and not Japanese forces. It was estimated that 1,600 decomposing dead lay within the shattered mud walls.

The Japanese said evacuation had gone on for two days and that the town had been stripped of everything of value, even to cooking utensils. They said it was a village of horror, with only 20 living refugees remaining.

Both the Chinese and Japanese were bringing up reinforcements for an expected resumption of fighting this week. Additional Japanese troops arrived at Woosung early Monday, Feb. 29, aboard transports, according to the Pilots' Association, but where they would be landed was uncertain, whether at Woosung village or at international settlement. A column of reinforcements to replace front-line veterans at Chapei was bombed from the air Saturday, Feb. 27, the Japanese said, and heavy casualties inflicted.

Miaoehangchen was fired again and a powder magazine was blown up at Tsinghsien. Then the wreck of Chapei came in for another blasting. Incendiary bombs set fire to the debris, and the wind blew the flames dangerously near Japanese naval headquarters in Hongkew.

Another detachment of bombers concentrated on a railway siding in Markham road in Chapei, starting a second conflagration which blazed furiously into the night and was blowing toward Shanghai on the wings of a north wind.

The Woosung and Lion Forest forts, already pounded by shrapnel, shattered masonry and blasted armaments got another dose of bombs from the air, apparently intended to cover the arrival of Japanese reinforcements.

The Japanese said they have dropped no less than 35 tons of bombs on the Chinese positions since hostilities began.

Man Killed In Snowslide

Gang Was Clearing Track When Second Slide Occurred

Vancouver, B.C.—Joe Koshish, laborer, was swept to death while working as part of a Canadian National Railway gang clearing a snowslide at Messier, a few miles west of Blue River. The gang were working on one snowslide, when a second came down.

Westbound trains were delayed by a series of slides which occurred at intervals between Vancouver and Blue River. Exceptionally heavy winter snow is being brought down by a sudden mild spell, state railway officials.

Germany Accepts

Geneva, Switzerland.—Germany accepted the draft convention of the preliminary disarmament commission as 'the general framework for discussion of the world disarmament conference, thus postponing one of the most stubborn conflicts which confronted the delegates.

Imperial Conference Representation To Be Government Supporters

Ottawa, Ont.—Premier Bennett and the leader of the opposition found themselves in agreement in the belief that Canada's representation at the Imperial Conference should be made up of supporters of the government and not of all parties of parliament.

In discussing the currency stabilization motion, Premier Bennett digressed briefly to discuss this aspect. The prime ministers of some of the Dominions in the commonwealth had from time to time contended that it was rather unkind that only one party should be represented, and that the government of the day should be assisted by the leader of the opposition.

"But that view has not obtained and is not likely to obtain," added Premier Bennett.

"Hear, hear," said Mr. King.

Comparison Favors Canada

Banking System Of Dominion Is Praised By American Official
Washington, D.C.—Comparison between the banking systems of Canada and the United States to the disadvantage of the latter appears in the report of the treasury appropriation bill.

Comptroller of Currency John W. Pole told a congressional committee there had been 2,290 bank failures in the United States during the calendar year 1931 and none in Canada since 1923.

"It is a sad commentary on our system," he said, "when we realize that with an imaginary line running between Canada and the United States, where the same character of people live and where the same economic conditions prevail, there is this great difference in banking conditions. The people on both sides of the border have similar characteristics. They are only separated by an imaginary line, while on one side they have had no bank failures whatever, on our side there have been hundreds of bank failures."

Found Flight Difficult

Aviators Take Six Weeks For Transit Across Canada

Victoria, B.C.—Battling ice and fog for practically the entire six weeks consumed for the trip, and dogged by ill luck in the form of three minor crashes, W. H. Cross, Victoria, owner, and Hart Grubbs, Montreal, aviator, landed here to complete their trans-Canada flight from Montreal to Victoria.

"We did not have one clear day all the way across Canada," said Cross, describing the difficulties of long winter flying.

Honored Noted Author

Large Crowd Attends Funeral Of

Little Marlow, Eng.—The greatest crowd this village has seen in many years gathered for the funeral of Edgar Wallace, noted author, who died in Beverly Hills, California, recently.

The solid bronze coffin was borne by eight men, and the Reverend G. B. Mildred, vicar of Little Marlow, officiated. The author's son, Bryan, was the only member of the family present.

Awarded Flying Trophy

Ottawa, Ont.—The Trans-Canada trophy for 1931, given annually for meritorious service for the advancement of aviation in Canada, has been awarded to George H. R. Phillips, superintendent of eastern flying operations with the provincial air service of Ontario. The award was announced by Hon. D. M. Sutherland, Minister of National Defence.

Skating Rink Collapsed

Prince Albert.—Prince Albert's new $40,000 skating rink is virtually a total wreck following the collapse of the roof which flattened the walls and gave the structure the appearance of having been hit by a tornado. The rink has only been used one year. No one was injured as the building was deserted when the roof fell.

Improvement In Wheat Situation Is Predicted

Statistical Experts Believe Canada Will Again Sell To Europe

Ottawa, Ont.—Cables from Italy, Germany and Russia brought encouraging news from a Canadian standpoint in regard to the wheat situation. Italy is allowing its millers to use a larger percentage of foreign wheat beginning March 1. Germany is soon to be a buyer of wheat again. Meanwhile, from Russia comes word of shortages for seedling purposes in the Voiga, Siberia and Kayakstan areas.

The despatch from Berlin predicting Germany will soon be buying wheat, is corroborated in letters which Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, has received. Statistical experts of the department also expressed the opinion that very soon Spain would lift the barriers against foreign wheat as her domestic wheat supply becomes exhausted. France has been relaxing her restrictions until now the millers can mix 20 per cent of foreign wheat and this may be increased.

Statistical experts here take the view that very soon Italy, France, Spain and Germany will all be buying wheat. This, it is suggested, should help Canada materially. The Dominion has approximately 185,000 bushels of wheat for export.

Murderous Attack

Blaine Lake School Teacher Is Seriously Wounded By Gunner

Saskatoon, Sask.—The spotlight of notoriety was again turned on Blaine Lake, Doukhobor settlement in northern Saskatchewan and the scene of several incendiary school fires during the past few months, as word was received of a murderous attempt on the life of Miss Olga Waseley, 22-year-old school teacher, of Moose Jaw, as she lay in her bed in a little schoolhouse about six miles from Blaine Lake. Miss Waseley was the target of two shots from an unknown gunman, who smashed the window and used a shot gun in his efforts to kill the young teacher.

Word of the shooting was almost immediately followed by the arrest of Pete Dowlenko, 18, son of a Doukhobor farmer, living one mile from the school.

Chinese Purchase Planes

Worcester, Mass.—Harry S. Jue, head of the Worcester Chinese Aid Committee, states Chinese in this country have bought and are shipping to the Chinese for use at Shanghai 75 military airplanes. "Chinese leaders" he added, "are now also negotiating with German interests for the purchase of another 100 fighting planes to send home."

Volcano In Action

Tokio, Japan.—The volcano Asama near Karuizawa, northwest of Tokio, went into violent eruption for the third time in a month, scattering ash and stones over a wide area, setting fire to nearby forests and damaging a few houses in the nearby villages.

SETS NEW RECORD

Sir Malcolm Campbell, British "speed king," who hung up a new world's speed record of 253 miles an hour with his "Bluebird" racing machine on Daytona Beach.

Russian Wheat Shortage

Soviet To Use Thirty-Two Million Bushels For Seed

Ottawa, Ont.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has received a report from London giving the official text of the Molotov-Stalin decree regarding Soviet grain. It announces that 1,926,000 pounds of grain (32,100,000 bushels) will be sent to collective and state farms in the drought areas for seed and food, the principal areas affected being the lower and middle Voiga, Kazakstan and western Siberia regions.

It is also decreed that the collection of grain for spring sowing on collective farms shall be 5,700 metric tons, to be completed in the principal areas by March 10. Up to February 10, 39 per cent of this program had been fulfilled.

This report gives further evidence of the suspected crop failure over large Russian areas last season and explains in large measure why south Russian wheat shipments have fallen to such low levels in the past few months.

Disarmament Petitions

Canada Had Largest Number of Signatures In Proportion to Population

Ottawa.—Canada, in proportion to population, had the highest percentage of signatures of any country in the world to the petition for disarmament by international agreement presented to the world conference at Geneva recently. A report on the presentation was received at the national office of the League of Nations society in Canada.

In the total number of signatures presented, England headed the list with approximately 2,000,000. Canada, with 500,200, was fifth. The United States was second with 1,500,000; Germany third, 1,300,000, and the French petitions contained 535,000 signatures.

Stabilization Of Currency Of British Countries Urged By Government

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada's representatives at the Ottawa Economic conference next July will "initiate and support measures for the stabilization of the currencies of all British countries in such a manner as to facilitate trade between the component parts of the Empire and to promote economic unity therein."

After a three-hour debate in the house of commons, general instructions to this effect were issued. With-out a recorded vote, the house accepted a motion by Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce. It took the form of a subamendment to a resolution introduced some days ago by A. E. Maclean, Lab. Prince, which would instruct the government to introduce at the conference the broad subject of monetary stabilization. To this resolution, an amendment was moved by William Irvine, U.F.A. Wetaskiwin, advocating the abandonment of the gold standard by Canada and all other Empire countries. Both the Maclean resolution and the Irvine amendment were lost today without a roll call.

"What we are endeavoring to promote . . ." said Premier Bennett, "is that in one-quarter of the world's surface . . . We should have a stabilized currency or a medium of expressing values for exchange . . . and that these media should have values not necessarily in the same terms and that they should have stable values for the purpose of facilitating the transaction of business and the advancement of trade."

"What is required," said Mr. Stevens, "is a currency which will remain reasonably stable, a currency which will be universally acceptable and one which will not fluctuate from day to day or from month to month." The debate was technical and in many aspects, abstract. Such terms as the gold standard, international balances, inflation, deflation and bi-metalism—almost unintelligible to most people—necessarily played prominent parts.

Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, said he was "anxious to co-operate with the government as far as possible in any matter that has to do with the conference." But he was unable to support the Stevens proposal. If the government had stabilization policies, they should be submitted to the house for consideration.

"Before this house was asked to vote on any measure of instruction to the government as to what it is to do at the conference," said the Liberal leader, "we should be put in possession of the particular measure which is to be initiated and supported by the government." He protested against the "blank check" form of the instructions and said the ministry also was tying its own hands by promising to support any or all stabilization schemes.

The Imperial conference, said Premier R. B. Bennett, had no legislative function and it would be necessary to consult parliament before Canada would be committed to any stabilization scheme.

On the broad subject of the abandonment of the gold standard, the prime minister said: "Few things have done more injury, using the word in a broad sense, than the action taken by Great Britain in going off the gold standard. As a matter of fact, it wrecked the financial structure of practically every country in the world, except two, and the loss sustained by Canada and by other parts of the Empire was very, very great."

May Terminate Trade Agreement With Russia

British Government Is Urged To Take Immediate Action

London, England.—The trade and industry committee of the Conservative party decided to urge upon the government immediate steps to terminate the Anglo-Soviet trade agreement.

The committee reached its decision, it said, in a desire to see Great Britain free to take appropriate steps to remedy present unsatisfactory industrial conditions and to give representatives of the United Kingdom greater freedom in their conversations with the Dominions at the Imperial Conference at Ottawa next July.

Russian Troops Reported To Be Moving Down To Manchurian Frontier

Mukden, Manchuria.—Several thousand Russian soldiers are moving down toward the Manchurian frontier, presumably because of Moscow's apprehension over Japanese troop movements in northeastern Manchuria, the Rengo (Japanese) news agency reported from Harbin.

Meanwhile, the Japanese expedition headed by General Hiro Tanaka and aimed at Chinese rebels in the vicinity of Imitopo, was held up. Difficulties developed in getting permission to transport troops over the Chinese Eastern railway, jointly owned by Russia and China.

Officials of the railway said they were unable to furnish trains requested by the Japanese because they had not received instructions to do so from Moscow.

Tokyo, Japan.—The cabinet approved an extraordinary appropriation of 22,000,000 yen (currently $7,040,000) to meet additional military expenses in connection with the Japanese expedition to Shanghai.

Japanese military authorities are working at top speed—and under the protection of censorship—to carry out the cabinet decision to double the army forces at Shanghai. Meanwhile residents of Tokyo had some direct contact with warlike preparations. Troop trains passed close to the city and there were other military measures which gave the public a chance to put on demonstrations for the departing soldiers.

Heavy Grain Shipments

Over Six Million Bushels For United Kingdom Pass Through Vancouver Port

Vancouver, B.C.—During the past two weeks approximately 6,200,000 bushels of grain have been booked for shipment through this port for the United Kingdom and the continent, according to local grain brokers.

During the past week, the weekly report of the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange shows, shipments totalled 1,451,058 bushels, being the second highest total to 45,436,888 bushels. In this time last year the export was 45,511,070 bushels.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

"People living in glass houses should not throw stones," of which we were promptly reminded following our previous issue. A gentleman whom we unintentionally offended politely called our attention to it, stating he considered we had made a mistake. It was in reference to the depression and its effect on many people's outlook on business conditions. We regret causing the offence.

Very shortly after this an insurance agent called and endeavored to interest us in placing further insurance. We were unable to incur further expense, even in a safe and sure investment, but he stated that he had written a few people in the Pass towns for varying amounts. The moral is that no matter how hard it may be at present to secure new business, there is always some to be obtained, if persistent effort is maintained.

It reminds one of the story of Bruce of Bannockburn. He was laying secluded from his enemies, and watched a spider trying to spin its web. Several times it failed to spin its gossamer thread between the points where it aimed to build, but finally succeeded. Bruce took courage, girded up his loins, sallied forth and won the famous battle.

Art and music are international. Tariff barriers cannot keep them out, neither can national ill-feeling. The death of John Philip Sousa, famous bandmaster of the United States, brings to mind that British Army regiments have trudged many a mile with their bands playing Sousa's marches, of which the "Washington Post" was an old-time favorite. Another American march, though not Sousa's, that all Canadians who were overseas respond to with a thrill, is the gay old "Colonel Bogey" march. Sousa's compositions may not have been as intricate and difficult to play as others of international repute, but they brought life and vigor into the atmosphere, and he resounded the keynote of American life and vigor. Western people will remember his band as having played at various exhibitions several years ago, and the figure of Sousa quietly waving his baton as he conducted his fifty or more musicians.

The death of A. E. Cross is of special interest to Coleman people, for it was through his influence that the Grand Union hotel was built. The town therefore has cause to appreciate his good service, one of many good acts which he did for this province. He had been associated with the city of Calgary for over 48 years, and his record shows that he was a man of industry, who served this province in public life and took a prominent part in its development from the pioneer stages.

The extent to which we devote our energies towards developing home business reflects itself in increased prosperity. The Alberta sugar industry paid in wages, to farmers for beets, coal mines, rock quarries, railways, etc., nearly a million and a half dollars in 1930, and over a million and a quarter in 1931. This industry is of immense value to southern Alberta, and can be increased if the general public will demand Alberta sugar. This district needs more industries, for they would in turn use the coal from our mines, and it is good business for the general public of the Pass towns to encourage the development of a southern Alberta industry which has encouraged the beet growing industry among the farmers and in two years, 1930-31, paid to them over a million and a half dollars for beets grown on their farms.

Ivar Kreuger, leader of the Swedish Match Trust, could not stand the pressure of facing his directors and discussing affairs of the various companies in which he had played a prominent part. The striking thing about this and of other men who have forged their way to leadership is that though they have the nerve and ability to do things in a big way, yet they crack up just the same as men in positions of lesser importance when a real test comes. A nervous breakdown was the cause of his suicide, medical men state. These breakdowns are caused by fear, far harder to fight than a bodily disease. And when it "gets" a man, he sets only one avenue of escape.

Turner Valley natural gas supply is causing some concern, and a rise in rates to Calgary users is forecast. Some reports indicate an early exhaustion of the field at its present rate of consumption. Probably the time is not far distant when coal gas will be generated in the Crows Nest Pass and connecting mains laid the comparatively short distance to Macleod to hook up with the gas mains to Calgary. The power plant at Crows Nest Lake is in the Calgary hook-up to supply electrical energy. The present generation may see the mines supplying Calgary with gas.

An Exchange says: Does not real success depend upon how well we sell ourselves, our ideas, our personalities, our services, rather than upon knocking and cutting competitors?

The Citroen-Haardt-Asiatie-Expedition, travelling 8,000 miles across Asia, met temperatures ranging from 120 degrees above zero to 16 degrees below.

There will be no change in the French disarmament and reparations policy under the government headed by Andre Tardieu, the new premier told the Chamber of Deputies in his first ministerial declaration.

C. N. R. Branch Lines

$948,000 To Be Expended On Construction Work This Year

A total of $948,000 will be expended on branch line construction for the Canadian National Railways this year, that amount being authorized in the 1929-1932 programme, according to a return tabled by R. J. Manson, Minister of Railways, in the House of Commons. A number of the branch lines are completed, but work this year will be confined to five, of which two are in Alberta, one in Saskatchewan, one each in British Columbia and Ontario. The programme follows: Bulwarke (Alberta) easterly, $15,000; Brantford (Ontario) cut-off, $132,000; Hemlock-Skeena (Alberta), $115,000; St. Walburg (Saskatchewan) Bonnyville, $35,000; Lulu Island (B.C.), $171,000.

Expenditures in connection with the programme up to December 31, 1931, amounted to $140,769. During the year the sum of $4,378,050 was spent. The amount authorized in the schedule, plus the customary 15 per cent., totalled $33,061,350.

A number of the constructions have been discontinued for the time being.

Still Some Differences

There are still some differences between the sexes, despite the desperate efforts to eradicate them all and we never saw a man earnestly endeavoring to ascertain by a prolonged study of the outside of the envelope whom the letter came from, instead of opening it and finding out at once and for sure.

Anyone who has lived through 1931 safely ought not to be afraid of anything 1932 can do to him.

A Good Investment

Big Business In Orient Developed From Few Gifts

About a quarter of a century ago the Standard Oil Co. gave away with out cost a large number of kerosene oil lamps and stoves in China and throughout the Orient. This was designed to increase the demand for kerosene oil. It was a good investment. Today tankships operated by the Standard Oil and the Shell Oil Companies carry many millions of gallons of kerosene to Oriental countries annually. While electric lighting is common in port towns, throughout the Orient the interior cities and towns as well as the rural districts still employ kerosene oil as their principal means of lighting.

You'll love this dress. It is black cotton-faille crepe silk. It has the lines which have been proven by experience are becoming to the heavier figure. It also has the new modish sleeve flounce and is quite one-sided about its white crepe rever, that provided so much smartness and charm.

Some may like the rever to tone with the dress, which is also very smart and a bit more practical. It is especially fascinating in not royal blue shade crepe silk. Printed crepe silk is attractive in this model with the rever and sleeve flounce of plain crepe in blending tone.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MARCH 6

JESUS WASHES HIS DISCIPLES' FEET

Golden Text: "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."—Matthew 20:28.
Lesson: John 13:1-15.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 52:13 to 53:6.

Explanations and Comments

Supreme Love and Supreme Treachery, verses 1 and 2.—Before partaking of the Feast of the Passover, Jesus was fully aware of the death awaiting Him, and the washing of the disciples' feet was a last illustration of His uttermost love for his own. His disciples with whom He had lived so long and so intimately. Side by side with His Lord's great love for them, the Evangelist places the treachery of Judas Iscariot, who at the supper fully made up his mind to betray Jesus.

Supreme Power and Lowliest Service, verses 3-5.—In later years Peter wrote this admonition: "All of you gird yourselves with humility to serve one another." Was he not thinking of the girded towel about his Lord and the lowly service performed on that last night that Jesus companioned with His disciples? The consciousness of power, mission and destiny did not deter Jesus from this humblest of tasks which He set Himself, rather did it urge Him to undertake it. He arose from the table, poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet.

"No impulse is so splendid for the simplest tasks; no task is too simple for the most splendid impulse."—Phillips Brooks.

Blundering Love, verses 6-9.—"Dost Thou wash my feet?" Peter exclaimed when his Master came to him. In the Greek the words "sa mou"—"thou, of me"—are in emphatic contrast at the beginning of the sentence. "What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt understand hereafter," Christ's answer, is partly explained in verses 12-17.

"Thou shalt never wash my feet," impetuous Peter cried out. Recall Matthew 16:22. "It is the old strange mixture of self-conceit and self-distrust: the self-conceit of old, which under the shadow of Hermon had called upon him so stern a rebuke when he had said, 'Thou shalt not, Lord; this shall never be unto Thee'; the self-distrust which of old, in the boat on the Sea of Galilee, had flung him on his knees, and had great cry wringing from his yearning heart, 'Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord.'"—F. W. Farrar.

I love Simon; I have made pretty much the same blunders as Peter, only the publicity has not been given to them."—G. W. Bull.
"If I wash thee not, thou has no part with Me," no part in my fellowship and kingdom, was Jesus' answer. Peter did not fully understand, but he was, wholly loyal to his Lord. His revulsion of feeling was complete when he cried, "Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head."

Clean Seed For Farmers

Hon. Mr. Buckle Announces Plan For Cleaning Wheat In Relief Area

The Honourable W. C. Buckle, Minister of Agriculture, announces plans for the cleaning of wheat supplied to farmers in the relief area of Saskatchewan.

The stocks in local elevators will be distributed insofar as they are satisfactory and farmers will take the wheat home and clean it or they may arrange with custom cleaning outfits to clean it. Some of these may be operated by private individuals and some by municipal councils. An alternative is to have it cleaned by the local elevator or milling company.

The cost of cleaning the wheat is included in the price and those cleaning it themselves can claim a rebate from the Saskatchewan Relief Commission of 2 1/2 cents per bushel.

When a farmer is unable to clean it himself he will make his own arrangements for getting it cleaned and the Relief Commission will pay to the cleaner a rate not exceeding 2 1/2 cents per bushel for the quantity of wheat per bushel. The charge will be based on the quantity of uncleaned wheat (excluding commercial dockage), put through the cleaner.

The operator of the cleaning machine will be required to submit to the Relief Commission satisfactory evidence of cleaning. Proper forms for this purpose can be obtained from the local relief office.

The Relief Commission will only accept responsibility for cleaning charges on wheat supplied by the Relief Commission.

Any cleaning for which the Relief Commission pays will be satisfactory to the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, whose representatives will make periodical inspections of the cleaning operations as soon as the wheat is released for delivery to farmers.

Macdonald College Celebrates

General view of Macdonald College, Bellevue, Que.

Sir William O. Macdonald.

(4) Macdonald Engineering Building, McGill University.
(5) Macdonald Hall, Guelph, Ontario.

The Twenty Fifth Anniversary of Macdonald College, with particular emphasis on Founder's Day, February 10th, focuses attention on this institution and its founder, the late Sir William C. Macdonald who built, equipped and endowed the entire institution at an expense of more than six million dollars.

Founder's Day which this year, marks the 101st Anniversary of the birth of the late Sir William C. Macdonald, founder of the Macdonald Tobacco Company and Canada's greatest benefactor, once more draws attention to the tremendous scope of his benefactions to McGill University with which the Macdonald College at St. Anne de Bellevue is affiliated.

These benefactions total more than twelve and one half million dollars, $10,690,165 of which was given during his life. While the Faculty of Science and the Scientific Agriculture was possibly the dearest to Sir William's heart, every faculty of the McGill University benefited during his life and after. The Faculty of Law received $232,500. The Conservatory of Music $300,000. The Faculty of Medicine was bequeathed $500,000. The McCord Museum Building was purchased at a cost of $142,000, while the Macdonald Park site now occupied by the Stadium, and the Music School, were purchased at a cost of more than one million dollars and presented to the University. Student's activities came under the beneficent scope of Sir William as the McGill Union testified. Sir William spent $219,000 on its erection and equipment. In addition to the wonderful equipment at St. Anne de Bellevue, those buildings at McGill which bear the Macdonald name and those donated by the late Tobacco knight, stand today, as the greatest monument to his memory. Macdonald College was founded by the late Sir William in 1907. It was designed to include three schools—one for agriculture, one for household science and one for normal teacher training. The gift included the grounds, almost 800 acres in extent, the complete equipment and endowment. The college itself was incorporated with the University of McGill as the Faculty of Agriculture, although the teachers' training feature is possibly his best known contribution to life in the Province of Quebec. Other sections of the country have benefited by the late Sir William's benefactions, the Macdonald Institute and the Macdonald Mission, serving throughout Guelph and later in France.

The Shakespeare play, "Julius Caesar," has been substituted in the public schools of the province for "The Merchant of Venice," as the result of objections raised by Jewish people. Dr. J. T. M. ## THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

—BY—
MARGARET FEEDER
Author of "The Splendid Pail," "The Harriet of Pail," Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London.

She laughed and retorted imperiously.

"I'm sure I'm grateful to the bigger boy who came to the rescue."

There was something quite unconsciously provocative about her as she stood there with one foot poised on the plank, her head thrown back in a trifle to meet his glance, and a hint of gentle gallantry tilting the corners of her mouth.

The cave-man woke suddenly in him. He was conscious of an almost irresistible impulse to take her in his arms and kiss her.

But the conventions of the centuries held, and all Jean knew of that swift flare-up of desire in the man beside her was that the grip of his hand on hers suddenly tightened so that the pain of it almost made her cry out.

And because she was not given to regarding every unmarried man she met in the light of a potential lover—as some women are prone to do—and because, perhaps, her thoughts were subconsciously preoccupied by a lean, dark face, rather stern and weary-looking as though from some past discipline of pain, Jean never ascribed that fierce pressure of the hand to its rightful origin, but merely rubbed her bruised fingers suspiciously and wisely, carefully, that man were not quite so muscular.

"I'll go with you up to the house," remarked Burke, without any elaboration of "by your leave."

She was privately of the opinion that her leave would have little or nothing to do with the matter. If this exceedingly autocratic and masculine individual had decided to accompany her through the park, accompany her he would, and she might as well make the best of it.

He was extraordinarily unlike his sister, she thought. Where Judith Craig would probably seek to attain her ends in a somewhat stealthy, cat-like fashion, Burke would employ the methods of the club and battering-ram. Of the two, perhaps these last were preferable, since they at least left you knowing what you were up against.

"Will you come in?" asked Jean, pausing as they reached the house. "Though I'm afraid yours is out."

"So much the better," he replied promptly. "I'd much rather have tea alone with you."

"That's not very polite to the others," smiling a little. "I thought the Staple people were old friends of yours?"

"So they are. That's exactly it. I felt the mood of the explorer on me this afternoon."

"You're one of the people with a penchant for new acquaintances, then?" she said indifferently, leading the way into the hall, where, in place of the great log fire of chiller days, a bank of glowing tulips made a very good and orange and red in the wide hearth.

"No, I'm not," he returned bluntly. "But I've every intention of making your acquaintance right now."

Jean rang the bell and ordered tea. "I think, perhaps, I might be a little out of the matter," she returned lightly when Blaise had left the room.

"The setting of questions of that kind is usually considered a woman's prerogative. Supposing?"—smiling—"I don't ask you to tea, after all?"

There was a smouldering fire in the glance he bestowed upon her vivid face.

"It wouldn't make a bit of difference—in the long run," he replied deliberately. "A man makes up his mind he can usually get his own way—over most things."

"You can't force friendship," she said quickly. It was as though she was defying something that threatened.

Again that queer gleam showed for a moment in his eyes.

"Friendship? No, perhaps not," he conceded.

He said no more and an uncomfortable silence fell between them. Jean was suddenly conscious that it might be possible to be a little afraid of this man. She did not like that side of him—the self-willed, masterful side—of which, almost deliberately, he had just given her a glimpse.

With the appearance of the tea the rigid sense of tension vanished, and the conversation dropped into more ordinary channels. She discovered that he had travelled considerably and was familiar with many of the places to which, at different times, she had accompanied her father and mother.

And over the interchange of recollections the little hint of discord—of challenge, almost—was forgotten.

They were still chatting amicably together half an hour later when Blaise returned. The latter's face darkened as he entered the hall and found them thus.

When Jean recounted the afternoon's adventure.

"I suppose Miss Peterson has your lodge-keeper's boys to thank for this?" he demanded stormily of Burke.

"I'm afraid that's so," admitted the other.

"If you had any consideration for your neighbours, you'd sack the lot of them," returned Blaise sharply.

"Or else see that they're kept under proper control. They've given trouble before, but it is a little too much of a good thing when they dare to play practical jokes of that description on a guest of ours."

Jean stared at him in astonishment. She had told the story as rather a good joke and in expectation of Burke's presence, and instead of laughing at her dilemma, Tormarin appeared to be thoroughly angry over the matter.

Burke remained coolly unprovoked.

"I can't say I've any quarrel with the young rascal," he said. "They afforded me a charming afternoon."

"Doubtless," retorted Blaise. "But that's hardly the point. Anyway"—heatedly—"I'll thank you to see that those lads are kept in hand for the future."

Jean danced across at Burke with some apprehension, half fearing a responsive explosion of wrath on his part, but to her relief he was smiling—a twinkling, mischievous smile that redeemed the ugliness of his features.

"I'm sorry, Tormarin," he said humbly. "You wouldn't mind my place."

The man was keeping his temper in the face of considerable provocation, and Jean liked him better at that moment than she had done through-out the entire afternoon. Tormarin's own attitude she quite failed to understand, and after Burke's departure she took him to task for his churlishness.

"It was really absurd of you, Blaise," she scolded, half-smiling, half in genuine vexation. "As if Burke could possibly be held responsible for the actions of a mischievous schoolboy! At least he did all he could to repair the damage; he brought me back, and recovered the missing pair of ears for me. You hadn't the least reason to flare up like that."

Blaise listened to her quietly. The anger had died out of his face and his eyes were somewhat sad.

"You're right," he said at last. "Absolutely right. But there rarely is any reason for a Tormarin's temper. Do you know—it seems ridiculous, but it's perfectly true—it was all I could do not to knock Burke down."

"My dear Blaise, you fill me with alarm! I'd no idea you were such a bloodthirsty individual! But seriously, what had the poor man done to incur your wrath? He's been most helpful."

There was an element of self-mockery in the brief smile which crossed his face.

"Perhaps that was just it. I've rather grown to look upon it as my own particular prerogative to help you out of difficulties."

"Well, naturally I'd rather it had been you," she allowed, twinking.

"Do you mean that?"—he asked. "Of course I do"—lightly.

She had failed to notice the eagerness of demand in his quick question. "I'm more used to it! Besides, I believe Mr. Burke rather frightens me. He's a trifle—overwhelming. Still"—shaking her head reprovingly—"I don't think that excuses you. You must have a shocking temper."

He laughed shortly.

"Most of the Tormarins have ruled their lives by their temper. I'm no exception to the rule."

Jean's thoughts flew back to the description she had overheard when in London: "A Tormarin in a temper is like a devil with the bit between his teeth."

"Then it's true," escaped her lips. "What's true?"—with some surprise. "That the Tormarins are a vile-tempered lot? Quite. If you want to know more about it, ask my mother. She'll tell you how I came by this white lock of hair—the mark of the beast."

Jean was trying to make the comments of the woman at the hotel and Blaise's own confession tally with her recollection of the latter's complete self-control on several occasions when he, or any other man, might have been pardoned for yielding to momentary anger.

"I believe you're exaggerating absurdly," she said at last. "As a matter of fact, I've often been surprised at your self-control, seeing that I know you have a temper."

He looked at her for a moment, but he thought her, as she spoke, as though his thoughts dwelt with some past memory. His expression was inscrutable; she could not interpret it. Presently he turned back to her and thought she smiled there was a deep, unfathomable sadness in his eyes.

"I've had one unforgettable lesson," he said quietly. "The Tormarin temper—the cursed inheritance of every one of us—has ruined my life for as it has ruined others before me."

The words seemed to fall on Jean's ears with a numbing sense of calamity, not alone in that past to which they primarily had reference, but as though thrusting forward in some mysterious way into the future—her future.

She was conscious of a vague foreboding that that "cursed inheritance" of the Tormarins was destined, sooner or later, to impinge upon her own life.

At night, when she went to bed, her mind was still groping blindly in the dark places of dim premonition. Single sentences from the afternoon's conversation kept flitting through her brain, and when at last she slept it was to dream that she had lost her way and was wandering alone in a grim and desolate region. Presently she came to a solitary dwelling, set lonely in the midst of the interminable plain. Three wretched-looking

"Most of the Tormarins have ruled their lives by their temper. I'm no exception to the rule."

Jean's thoughts flew back to the description she had overheard when in London: "A Tormarin in a temper is like a devil with the bit between his teeth."

"Then it's true," escaped her lips. "What's true?"—with some surprise. "That the Tormarins are a vile-tempered lot? Quite. If you want to know more about it, ask my mother. She'll tell you how I came by this white lock of hair—the mark of the beast."

Jean was trying to make the comments of the woman at the hotel and Blaise's own confession tally with her recollection of the latter's complete self-control on several occasions when he, or any other man, might have been pardoned for yielding to momentary anger.

"I believe you're exaggerating absurdly," she said at last. "As a matter of fact, I've often been surprised at your self-control, seeing that I know you have a temper."

He looked at her for a moment, but he thought her, as she spoke, as though his thoughts dwelt with some past memory. His expression was inscrutable; she could not interpret it. Presently he turned back to her and thought she smiled there was a deep, unfathomable sadness in his eyes.

"I've had one unforgettable lesson," he said quietly. "The Tormarin temper—the cursed inheritance of every one of us—has ruined my life for as it has ruined others before me."

The words seemed to fall on Jean's ears with a numbing sense of calamity, not alone in that past to which they primarily had reference, but as though thrusting forward in some mysterious way into the future—her future.

She was conscious of a vague foreboding that that "cursed inheritance" of the Tormarins was destined, sooner or later, to impinge upon her own life.

At night, when she went to bed, her mind was still groping blindly in the dark places of dim premonition. Single sentences from the afternoon's conversation kept flitting through her brain, and when at last she slept it was to dream that she had lost her way and was wandering alone in a grim and desolate region. Presently she came to a solitary dwelling, set lonely in the midst of the interminable plain. Three wretched-looking scrubby little fir trees grew to one side of the house, all three of them bent in the same direction as though beaten and bowed forward by ceaseless winds. While she stood wondering whether she should venture to knock at the door of the house and ask her way, it opened and Gertrude Burke came out.

"Ah! There you are!" he exclaimed, as though he had been expecting her. "I've been waiting for you. Will you come into my parlour?"

He smiled at her as he spoke—she could see the even flash of his white teeth—but there was something in the quality of the smile which terrified her and without answering a word she turned to escape.

But he overtook her in a couple of strides, catching her by the hand in a grip so fierce that it seemed as though the bones of her fingers must crack under it.

"Come into my parlour," he repeated. "If you don't, you'll be stamped forever with the mark of the beast. It's too late to try and run away."

Cruschen Stopped It—
Now 11 lbs. Down

"I tried to take Cruschen Salts a month ago, to reduce my weight. After trying several other ways, I am pleased with the results, as from 224 lbs. I have lost 11 lbs., which I think is a move in the right direction. I feel better all round, and am hoping to get down to 100 lbs. I am grateful to Dr. Fetter & Co. for the help they have given me."

The six salts in Cruschen assist the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day the waste and poisons that cumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes, but surely, and you feel so wonderfully healthy, youthful, and energetic—more so than ever before.

Find Ancient Wall

Excavations Result in Uncovering David's Wall Beneath Dust Of Thirty Centuries

An accident has led to the discovery, of the wall which David built around the ancient capital of his Israelite kingdom when he captured it from the Jebusites 3,000 years ago. Excavators repairing an old sewer found the long-hidden wall buried beneath the dust of thirty centuries.

The early history of Jerusalem is obscure, but the wall built by David is supposed to have been the first of many erected to protect it against countless tribes of invaders.

Fifty years ago Sir Francis Warren, in a survey of Jerusalem, marked out the approximate position of the first wall, running close by the Temple of Jehovah, but his calculations were not confirmed until the laborers began work on the sewer.

It was some years after David became king of the Israelites that he succeeded in conquering Jerusalem. He established his royal city on the eastern hill, near the site of ancient Zion, seat of the Jebusite ruler, and appointed his leading commander, Jacob, governor of the city of Jebus, which occupied the western hill and became the civil city. The David surrounded the royal city with a wall, built a citadel and supposedly under divine guidance, chose a site for the Temple of Jehovah, which Solomon erected.

David's wall is not the only discovery which has resulted from the new excavation, however. The workmen first uncovered, twelve feet below the surface, a road built in Roman times, made of stone blocks three feet square and a foot thick. Five feet lower another old highway of similar construction was found.

Even at this comparatively early date, fishing enthusiasts are anticipating the good-old summer time. Which recalls to mind that one very keen gentleman of this town, whilst casting his fly near Lund brock Falls last season, was so engrossed and so quiet that a beaver bobbed up between the rocks on which he was standing. It was a 50-50 break as to who was the most scared.

Dr. J. E. Lovering of Lethbridge was a recent visitor to Coleman. He was a guest speaker at the Cross Nest Pass School Trustees Convention held last week in Blairmore, speaking on "Retarded Pupils." Mike Klish, a charter member of the Polish Society, was suspended last year, and brought action against the society for their action. The suit was the subject of considerable litigation, which finally resulted in the Alberta Court of Appeal ruling that the society was wrong in cancelling his membership, and dismissing their appeal with costs. Mr. J. E. Gillis of Blairmore was counsel for Klish, and M. E. Muscovich of Lethbridge for the appellants.

As They Live in Russia

Admirers of the Russian soviet dictatorship, in condemnation of their own government of the United States, aver that there is no unemployment in Russia. If that is true, it is because the Russian people are under a system of industrial servitude. There is enforced employment there, for the same reason that there was no unemployment for the negro population in the United States in the days of slavery.

Now comes an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow showing that soviet Russia is not troubled either, with the affliction of low prices. Notwithstanding that the government is driving the people to the last degree of their energy and industry, the much touted five-year plan leaves production far short of consumption. By government order, prices of food and clothing and other manufactured articles went up 20 to 100 per cent in Moscow Tuesday, making butter about $1.14 a pound and shoes $50 a pair. The increase in food prices averaged 20 to 25 per cent, and that for clothing, from 25 to 100 per cent. That government edict, as Governor Al Smith would say, gives the world the "low down" on what really is going on under the five year plan—Spokesman Review.
